

About Perceptyx

Perceptyx combines employee listening and people analytics in a way that not only helps our clients see more of what's going on in their organizations, but also helps them see how to drive the organization forward. Too many listening programs only focus on measurement, with overly prescriptive models that don't offer a fresh perspective on the challenges facing businesses today. And they rarely connect the dots between the employee experience and business outcomes, making it difficult to know which actions will have the greatest impact. With a solution fully tailored to each client's specific organizational needs, Perceptyx makes it possible for companies to see more clearly, see the bigger picture, and see the next steps. It's why nearly one-third of the Fortune 100 already rely on Perceptyx and why 95% of the organizations that come to us, stay with us.
